MURDOCK MINING COMPANY STARTS FINANCING MOVE

Plans for financing the Murdock Extension Mining Co., of Oatman, are being vigorously prosecuted by the management. The first allotment of shares are being placed on the market five cents per share. The management has an option on a $20,000 equipment at half its actual worth and those who buy the stock will have the advantage of this bargain.

Two thousand shares will be marketed and the machinery taken over. The Murdock Extension is considered as one of the promising properties in the district. However no development work has been done and the present value of the property is said to lie principally in the fact that it is located on two veins which have proven to be very rich.

The property joins the Murdock which is a near mine and is but six feet from the Cone on which much development has been done. The Boundary Cone is less than a quarter of a mile away and on the same vein as the Murdock Extension, has proven its worth and a rich strike was reported from this property a few days ago.

The Murdock Extension is financed by women and all but one of the officers are feminists. Miss Kate Christy, of Phoenix, daughter of a former state treasurer, and a member of the well known family of that name which has played such an important part in banking circles in Arizona, is treasurer. Miss Maud Rawlings, secretary of the Woman's Democratic League of Los Angeles County is secretary and a number of the prominent women of Arizona and California are directors. Mrs. Florabel Muir Rogers, sister of the general manager of the Gold Roads mine which is shipping $100,000 in bullion each month, is chairman of the board of directors.

It seems probable that within the next sixty days actual development work will have been started on the Murdock Extension.

Having their deed to the property and having made the necessary report to the corporation commission the company expects to have their permit within the next few days. They will then attempt to finance the buying of the machinery with the sales in the Salt River Valley.

Those who are interested in the property feel that this is an exceptional value and with their excellent location will advertise for those who desire to invest, but they will state in all advertisements that they do not desire any one to invest who cannot afford to take a chance, as they have only an excellent prospect, not a mine.

CYCLONE BILL HAS A BIRTHDAY PARTY

"Judge" William E. Beck, much more widely known as "Cyclone Bill" has a few events in his life from which he dates time. To this list covering a period of 60 years yesterday, he has added a party.

On the occasion of Cyclone's sixtieth birthday, he was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Mitt Simms at their home 1835 West Washington, at dinner. Judge Beck got into a reminiscent mood and entertained in his turn the little gathering with tales of the strenuous days, thirty years ago, when he first looked upon the mountains and deserts of Arizona.

Other guests at the dinner were the Misses Arnold of Tempe.

FARM LAND FOUND IN PRESCOTT FOREST

Applications for 329 Acres to Be Favorably Acted Upon

During the months of January and March 1916, a total of 329 acres of land within the Prescott National Forest, Arizona, were listed with the secretary of the interior and will shortly be opened to entry under the forest homestead act. The lands thus listed were applied for individually by four applicants, and each one of these tracts was examined by a forest officer and found to be more valuable for agriculture than for forest purposes.

Those whose applications within the Prescott National Forest were favorably acted upon during the months of January and March are:

J. F. Asher, McDowell, Arizona; Nick Radakovich, Jerome, Arizona; George N. Nelson, Sycamore, Arizona; Chester Garrett, Mayer, Arizona.

In addition to this, 1153 acres were listed to applicants within other National Forests in Arizona and 1289 acres within National Forests in New Mexico.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Woodmen of the World will hold an extraordinary special meeting this evening, at which time State Deputy Stewart and three other state deputies will launch a state wide campaign for membership. All members of the local lodge are urged to be present and lend a hand in starting the campaign.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet this afternoon at Trinity Pro-Cathedral house at 2:30. All members are urged to attend and bring their united offering boxes.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Headliners from All Lines of Amusements Will Be Here With Big Entertainment Which Comes in May

When speaking of "Chautauqua," many Phoenix people think of a course of lectures spread over a series of weeks. That is not the course coming in May. This Chautauqua represents the greatest system in the world, comprising seven full days of entertainment and educational courses, conducted by the greatest artists, orators, actors, that the world has produced. By referring to the few participants mentioned below one will see that any one performance is worth the price of the admission to the whole course for the seven consecutive days.

Phoenix took hold yesterday with a vengeance in this Chautauqua movement. Backed by high recommendations and endorsements of the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, the Ministerial Association and all the churches, as well as the superintendents of all the schools of this valley, a large number of business men met in the city and elected the following officers for this Chautauqua movement:

President, Dr. John Wix Thomas; vice presidents, Dwight B. Heard, J. C. Norton, Mrs. M. B. Wilkinson, Mrs. E. B. O'Neill, W. J. Kingsbury, Tempe; J. W. Lesueur, Mesa; Dr. Pearson, Glendale; secretary, Dr. E. H. Redewill; treasurer, Lloyd B. Christy.

Thirty-five business men of the city have guaranteed the financial end of this Chautauqua movement, their names to be printed later.

One matter that the committee wishes to bring before the minds of the people is that this movement is purely a boost for the city and is in no way a money-making proposition for any one. All the cities in this part of the country are joining with the cities of the east and are working with might and main to make this Chautauqua a big success. El Paso and Tucson already have committees working for this big Chautauqua, as they, like Phoenix, realize the big opportunity that is afforded all the citizens to have such wonderful entertainment come to this city.

Among the number of the program will be the following: The famous Kaffir Boy Choir that is making such a stir all through the east, such orators and entertainers as Thomas E. Green, Lou Beauchamp, Wood Briggs, Francis Labadie, Robert Parker Miles, Charles Zuehlbin and Sylvester Long. Among the musicians are Skibinsky, the famous Russian violinist; Tekla Farm, late prima donna soprano with Mme. Schumann-Heink; Rose Heide-nreich, contralto of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company; Margaret Day, pupil of Godowsky, famous pianist; Mr. Boucher, tenor, and the New York City Marine Band. Other attractions are the Sequoia Male Quartet, the Riner Sisters, the famous moving pictures of the Mawson Antarctic Expedition, and the International Opera Company, all of the highest class of entertainment.

The price of the tickets for the entire course is, adults, $2.50 (these tickets are transferable among members of the family); $1.50 for high school students and $1 for grammar school students.

HEAVY DRAFT ON SNOW DEPOSIT

The abundance of warm, sunny weather during the first three weeks of March caused a considerable depletion in the stored water supply. The storms near the end of the month added a small amount. By the 21st the general snow line had retreated to an average elevation of about 8,500 feet, although drifts remained on the northerly slopes down to about the 7,500-foot level. At times during the last ten days the ground was covered at all elevations above 6,000 feet.

The accumulated deposits at higher altitudes at the end of March compare favorably with the depths at the same period in other years, and the snow this spring is of unusual density.

In the Paradise Creek unit of the White River Watershed, where a detailed survey was made near the end of the month, the density of the snow in proportion to that of water ranged from 45 per cent on the steep northwest slopes to nearly 90 per cent on the open parks. In March 1915, there was a considerably greater volume of snow in that locality but the density was much less, averaging but 27 per cent. The actual water content of the snow remaining on the ground over an area surveyed is about 26 per cent greater this year.

With normal weather conditions the snow remaining in the mountains should maintain a good water supply during the spring and early summer, and as compared with other years the prospects may be said to be better than the average.

HALF OF DENVER

TWINS IN PHOENIX

Frisko Evans Arrives, But Nickle Plate Melin Stays in Douglas

One half of the Denver Twins arrived here yesterday, while the other half remained at Douglas taking his chances as between bombardment from Agua Prieta to the south and germs from Bisbee which resulted in a quarantine of that city. For those who may have forgotten it will be stated that the Denver Twins consist of W. L. Evans, district passenger agent of the Frisco Lines, and C. A. Melin, some kind of an agent for the Nickle Plate, both with headquarters in Denver when they are there. It was Evans who arrived yesterday and it was Melin who preferred the Gadsden to the Adams.

Now when Evans and Melin started out on this memorable trip, (all their trips are memorable) they had Phoenix on their itinerary as usual. But as they began to reach the region of Arizona, Melin began showing unmistakable symptoms of nervousness. When he finally crossed the line from Texas into Arizona, he told Evans that Melin hadn't stolen any horses or alienated any affections upon the occasion of his last visit and so the mystery was the more mysterious.

For all the disappointment occasioned by being obliged to call on Santa Fe Brownie, minus Melin, and robbed of the pleasure of having Melin on hand to take business away from him under his very eyes, Evans to go on and he would catch up with him somewhere else. Evans blew into town yesterday wearing an old rose silk vest with jade buttons, a climbing rose in his button hole, sen-sen on his breath and a smile that simply wouldn't come off. Ray rum and talcum powder added to his make-up after his arrival.

Mr. Frisko Evans stated after he caught his breath, that business about the country, that is the part embraced in his territory, was never better. The railroads are carrying freight to capacity and passenger traffic is heavy. He sees evidence of more prosperity and business activity here than upon the occasion of his last visit six months ago. He predicts a good summer and the best winter in the history of the south-west.

NEW NOTE ON SUBMARINES IS READY TO SEND

signed to be the final word of this government on the subject.

Press dispatches indicating that German officials were much perturbed over the situation were widely commented upon in official quarters today. It was said in the dispatches that additional instructions had been sent to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador and that Ambassador Gerard in Berlin had conferred with officials of the foreign office.

Secretary Lansing said tonight that Mr. Gerard had not yet reported. At the German embassy it was said that while dispatches from Berlin were expected none had been received.
